

Skills

-
-  Highly skilled
My partner displays outstanding skill, makes no significant errors and can perform almost without thinking
 -  Proficient
My partner can perform the skill or process in a very capable manner
 -  Practised
My partner is well practised and able to perform the skill quite well now
 -  Developing
There are some signs that my partner is beginning to learn and develop the skill
 -  Beginner
My partner hasn't moved beyond the beginner/novice stage yet

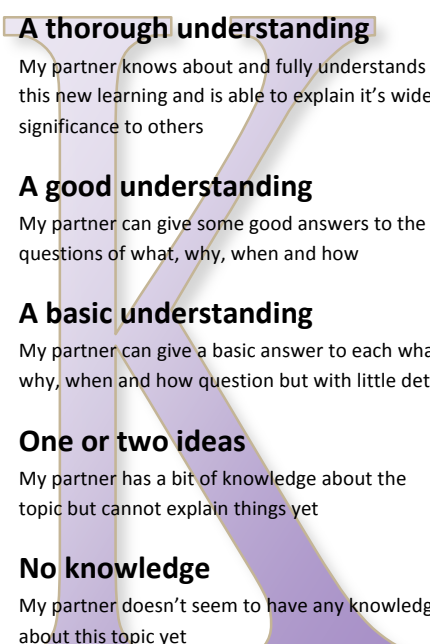

The ASK model

Partner feedback form

Attitudes

-
-  Completely focussed
My partner is completely absorbed in this new learning and is taking creative risks to extend their understanding
 -  Determined
My partner is determined to learn and is focused on making progress
 -  Interested
My partner is interested in the learning and is trying things to improve skill and knowledge
 -  Casual
My partner is not really interested in the learning but is having a go at it
 -  Uninterested
My partner shows no signs of interest in the topic as yet

Knowledge

-
-  A thorough understanding
My partner knows about and fully understands this new learning and is able to explain it's wider significance to others
 -  A good understanding
My partner can give some good answers to the questions of what, why, when and how
 -  A basic understanding
My partner can give a basic answer to each what, why, when and how question but with little detail
 -  One or two ideas
My partner has a bit of knowledge about the topic but cannot explain things yet
 -  No knowledge
My partner doesn't seem to have any knowledge about this topic yet